

Religious Education

Miss Cribbin - Year 1 Teacher - R.E Lead

This is my second academic year being a Class Teacher at Crossflatts Primary School, having previously worked at the school as a Learning Support Assistant before completing my teacher training here.

At Crossflatts Primary school religious education plays a big part in the overall ethos of the school and how diversity and individualism are celebrated throughout. These values align with my own as I am passionate about helping children understand the world around them and develop respect, empathy and curiosity about different beliefs and cultures. Religious education provides opportunity to explore big questions, shares their thoughts and learn to appreciate perspectives that may be different from their own.

Our Vision

At Crossflatts Primary School all staff are united in their understanding that top quality religious education is imperative if we are to shape a future in which everyone can live harmoniously in our diverse community. Our curriculum is designed to engage and excite children while they learn about religions, cultures, ideas and values that may be different to their own. Through visits to places of worship, celebration days and faith leader visits, the children at Crossflatts Primary School develop and practice tolerance and curiosity about religions and leave our school knowledgeable and equipped to make positive contributions to our multicultural society.
